

Tornado Rampage Kills One; 33 Hurt

Twister Warning Issued for Six More States

Storms Sweep
From Missouri into Illinois, Indiana

By United Press

A three-state tornado rampage killed 1 person and injured 33 Tuesday night and the U. S. Weather Bureau warned of possible twisters today in six more states.

Tornado warnings were posted for parts of Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana. The Chicago Weather Bureau lifted earlier warnings for areas in Illinois and Indiana, scene of Tuesday night's worst twisters. Warnings for Ohio and western Pennsylvania also were lifted.

Severe thunderstorms also were expected to lash the region in the wake of twisters which started in Missouri, touched down at Buckley, Ill., and then raced with full fury into Indiana.

At Marion, Ind., a twister ripped a mile-long path of destruction through the heart of the residential district, killing a young woman and injuring 25 persons. Other tornadoes smashed the small Indiana towns of Dunnington and Galveston.

Although the tornado barrage slackened today, vicious weather raged far across both the East and the West.

Heavy Damage in Indiana

Wrecking winds lashed southern California, hitting 90 m.p.h. gusts, and 50 m.p.h. winds fanned a forest fire raging over 1,300 acres of New Mexico timberland.

Thunderstorms shoved their way into New England and New York City was shrouded by a pea soup fog. Operations at La Guardia Field were slowed down and only big aircraft were permitted to take off.

Disaster crews were at work in Marion, where the twister flattened scores of homes, weakened two schools, and ripped bricks away from other buildings. Damage estimates ran well over a million dollars.

Flashlights in Hospital

Marion's power went out during the tornado and doctors worked on the injured in General Hospital under the light of flashlights and portable lanterns. The twister found 40 parents practicing for a minstrel show at a junior high school and sent a chimney crashing into their midst.

Further back along the twister's path there was extensive damage at Perryville, Mo., and four persons injured at both Buckley and Dunnington.

The twisters raged in advance of a strong cold front which shoved its way into the Ohio Valley. Thunderstorms and hail storms played on its edges, blocking roads in three counties near Detroit, Mich.

Hail was three to four inches deep in central Michigan, telephone lines and trees were down, and lights and heat were knocked out in some communities.

Louis Aaron is Re-Elected President Of Saline County Historical Society

The Saline County Historical Society re-elected Louis Aaron president at the regular meeting held last night at the public library.

Other officers elected were: First vice, Geneva Altmeir; second vice, Madeline Holdaway, Eldorado; secretary-treasurer, James Bond, Galatia; program chairman, John Foster; publicity chairman, Mrs. J. D. Morse; and social chairman, Mrs. Clarence Bosket.

Ray Altmeir, in behalf of the secretary of state, Charles F. Carpenter, presented a rare picture of Abraham Lincoln to the society. This picture was taken from old fashioned glass plates rediscovered in 1932. The history is printed on the back of the picture and may be inspected in the lower rooms of the Mitchell-Carnegie library.

The feature of the program was a history of Eldorado in the voice of the late Talitha Aaron which was recorded in 1952 by Vachel Davis. It was like a voice from the past by an eye witness of many of the interesting events of Eldorado. The voice was familiar to many of those present. The society decided to invest in recording tape and would welcome suggestions on interesting topics and personalities to be interviewed.

Two films, one on the Declaration of Independence, and one on "Our American Flag," were shown.

Four Persons Hurt, Eight Farm Homes Destroyed as Twister Hits Illinois Area

BUCKLEY, Ill. (U.P.) — At least four persons were injured and eight farm homes destroyed or damaged Tuesday evening as a twister swept down northeast of here during a three-state tornado warning.

A storm also struck Lexington, causing damage to buildings and utility lines. State police at Pontiac said patrolmen who came through that town reported the damage was not severe.

Orville Munsterman herded his son and daughter into a barn when the twister approached Buckley. As the tornado funnel hit, he threw himself across his son's body, sustaining injuries but saving the boy.

His 10-year-old daughter Sandra, however, broke and ran in fright despite his attempt to grab her. She was critically injured and was rushed with her father to a Gibson City hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kuhlman were also hurt when the twister hit their Buckley farm home. Mrs. Kuhlman was blown out a window and was badly cut by the flying glass. Her husband raced to a barn, only to have it collapse on him.

At Lexington, near Bloomington, telephone poles were stacked across railroad tracks, practically every window in town was broken, and two freight cars were pushed several hundred feet along a siding.

Three-quarter inch hailstones battered Harvey, south of Chicago, and a pea-soup fog shrouded the city itself.

Cold, snowy weather was expected to follow the twister into Illinois. The Weather Bureau predicted falling temperatures, rain changing to snow, and gusty northerly winds in northern and west central Illinois.

Boy Scout Fund Drive Will End March 19

The Boy Scout drive sponsored by the Egyptian Council of Boy Scouts of America will close its drive Monday, March 19, with a victory dinner to be held at Marion.

Comprising the 15 counties of southern Illinois, the Egyptian Council of the Boy Scouts of America is constantly striving to strengthen its program for the benefit of boys and their home towns. The financial year has been changed from October 1 to January 1 for more efficient fiscal operation, which means that the operating budget must be extended from 12 to 15 months for this one year. The 15-month budget, developed by the civic leaders of the area who serve on the executive board, amounts to $94,246.50.

Campaign co-chairmen for the Harrisburg area are J. H. McDugle and C. H. Shingler. Other committee members are: Steering, I. M. Taylor, F. S. Gray, Don Williams and Herb Peak; district finance chairman, Quentin Bowers; special gifts, John Foster; and membership, Don Williams and Dale Sullivan.

Four other helping groups are: Claude Ozment, major, and captains, Bob Davenport, Henry Businaro, Betty Schwartz, Gene Reed and Billy Gidecum; Ronnie Doerge, major, and captains, Jake Humphrey, Fred Bramlet, Charles Braden, Dan Davis and Lt. Andrew Sands; Jesse Gibbons, major, and captains, Pat Atkinson, Bonnie Pankay, Reba Burbank, Grace Brown and Sarah Tanner; Bob Karnes, major, and captains, Bob Keltner, Ed Miley, Don Wilson, Morris Skaggs and Lloyd Horn.

Louis Aaron

Guy DeNeal reported on the location of iron kettles for the salt wells which were sunk in the Saline river one hundred years ago, stating that they might still be recovered for a historical museum. A social hour followed with refreshments being served by Mrs. Louis Aaron and Mrs. James Bond.

1.40 Inches of Rainfall Here

Rain, accompanied by wind and lightning, came last night with 1.40 inches of rain falling to swell the streams in the area.

The rain measurement was 1.15 at Galatia and about six inches of water was pouring over the Lake Harrisburg spillway this morning.

With Middle Fork up, all three pumps were going by 5:30 a. m., pouring water into the reservoirs just north of town.

One bad case of wind damage was reported. The wind peeled the roofing off the Ellis Trucking Co. building and water which poured in did considerable damage in the parts room. The roof was being repaired this morning.

Later it was learned that there also was considerable damage at the Uzzle building on Route 45 south of Eldorado. There, too, part of the roof was blown off and rain that came in damaged the interior and furniture.

Report Attacks Navy, Two Firms In Jet Program

House Committee
Charges Failure
By Costly Errors

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—House investigators charged today that the Navy's 500-million-dollar, Demon fighter program failed because of "costly errors" committed by McDonnell Aircraft, Westinghouse Electric, and the Navy.

A House Government Operations subcommittee reported that four test pilots were killed trying to fly the Demons. It said the planes were unfit because of inadequately powered jet engines.

Nearly 300 of the planes were built at a cost of $2,600,000 each. Of the first 60 produced, the subcommittee said, 56 will never fly. And 4 were refitted with more powerful engines. Another 220 planes, it said, "have not yet been tested in fleet use and now or soon may be obsolete."

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Charles McNichols (D-Calif.) also called on Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson to recommend changes in the law governing retired officers who go to work for defense contractors.

All Share Responsibility

Its report cited particularly the case of Rear Adm. Lloyd Harrison who became a vice president at McDonnell the day after he retired at deputy assistant chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics in 1955.

The report said the subcommittee was making "no charge of impropriety in the strict legal sense" concerning McDonnell's employment of Harrison. But it added that the "tendency" of industry to recruit retired officers might influence their actions while still with the government.

The subcommittee, which conducted an extensive investigation of the Demon program, said "there were larger and costly errors in judgment and cumulative failures" in the program ended in failure.

It said Westinghouse, the Navy and McDonnell Aircraft of St. Louis "all share the responsibility in greater or less proportion, with the Navy bearing the final responsibility as the government procuring agency."

Barger Discusses Income Tax at Kiwanis Meeting

A discussion of "Your Income Tax" was made by Loy Barger last night at the Masonic temple before members of the Kiwanis club.

Mr. Barger briefly outlined to the club members who must file income tax returns, how to claim exemptions and explained changes in the present law, discussed personal deductions, sales of property, tax on annuity income, and income from royalties. He also discussed other general deductions such as contributions, taxes, medical expenses and medicines.

President, Ronnie Doerge announced the club will sponsor a chili supper on April 10 and that the members are helping in solicitations for the Boy Scout drive now under way.

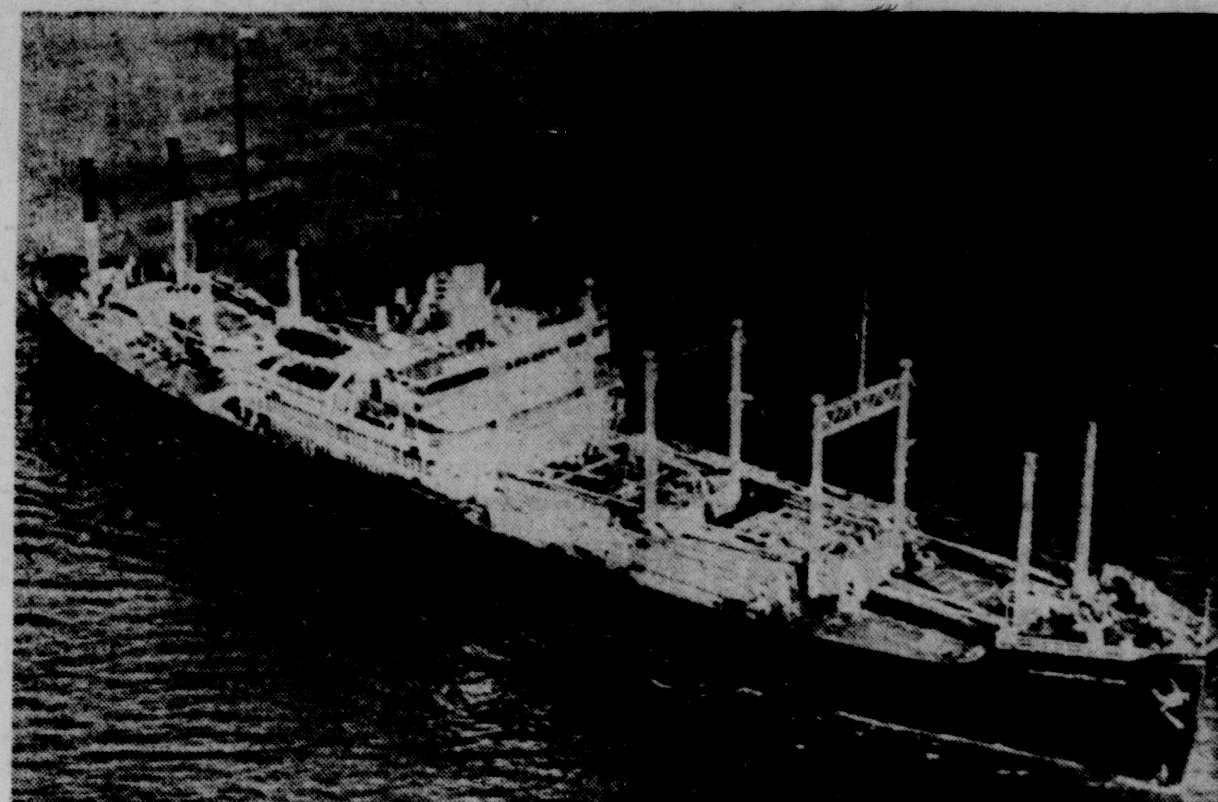

He also announced the Kiwanis-sponsored free meeting at the Kurto Country club Friday night where the Dale Carnegie course will be explained. This will not be a dinner meeting and the public is invited.

Following the regular club meeting the board of directors elected C. J. Beggs to the board.

A group of members from the Herrin Kiwanis club attended the meeting here last night. They were introduced by Bob Jarrells, president of the Herrin club, and included Roy Cornhaugh, past president of the club.

Ed Keyes of Cincinnati, Ohio, was a guest of Ed Brantley, and Bob May was a guest of his father, B. E. May.

City May Get Approved Traffic Lights; Plan Change in Curbing

Would Permit
Parallel Parking
On Poplar Street

Prospects are good for the city to secure traffic lights that will have the approval of the state division of highways.

This came to light at yesterday's regular city council meeting, attended by Vernon Kupel of the division's Carbondale office.

It was Kupel who came to town after the city had secured a portable signal on trial and placed it in the middle of the Main-Poplar intersection. He told the council that such an apparatus as the city had in the middle of the street did not meet with specifications of the state.

He told them that the state approved the type of signal with lights on all four corners, and desired parallel parking on all the streets leading up to the lights.

Parking Problem

The city could buy such an outlay of lights, he said out of motor fuel tax funds.

Biggest problem to the city in meeting state specifications, it developed, was changing parking to parallel on the south side of Poplar street on the south side of the square. There the main sidewalk is so high that car doors could not be opened sufficiently on the right side.

Talk of rebuilding the sidewalk came up but this would have cost several thousand dollars.

But last week Kupel conferred here with Engineer R. R. Brown, City Attorney George B. Lee and city council members and it was believed a solution to the sidewalk problem on the south side of the square was reached.

At this meeting the city proposed to extend the curbing out into the street two feet, making the step to the high sidewalk three feet, three inches wide and sufficient for opening car doors. If the state approved this, the city would buy state-approved lights out of motor fuel tax funds.

Traffic Surveys

Kupel took the proposition back to Carbondale with him and yesterday returned to say "it looks like the deal is working out all right," but asked for drawings of the plan for submission to the department. He received the drawings, which must be approved before the project is okayed.

It was pointed out that although Poplar street would be narrowed two feet by the extension of the curbing, the parallel parking would add several feet to the traffic lanes.

Kupel said that recent traffic surveys had been made by the state at Main and Poplar.

For the maximum six hours of the day, he said, the intersection is handling an average of 900 vehicles and 600 pedestrians per hour.

Golconda Man Dies

Carl Brown, resident of Golconda, died at 6 a. m. today in the Hardin County General hospital in Rosiclare.

He was the husband of Mrs. Audrey Belford Brown. The body is in care of the Buchanan funeral home and funeral plans are incomplete.

Hands of Evansville Surgeon are Mangled by Sadistic Burglar

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (U.P.)—A wealthy surgeon said today he thinks he can still perform operations even though his hands were mangled by a sadistic burglar.

However, Dr. Justis F. Wynn's medical colleagues weren't so sure. They said the torturer had gouged chunks of flesh from the 60-year-old doctor's hands with a pair of pliers and had left deep marks on his fingers.

The doctor may be injured much more seriously than he believes, they said.

Wynn was attacked in the darkness of his bedroom early Tuesday by a gunman who stole $3,000 and then tortured him in an attempt to get more.

Arrest Suspect on Tip

Donald Lockwood, 31 year old nephew of Wynn's brother-in-law, was arrested on an anonymous tip one hour later. He denied the attack and Wynn was to view him in a police lineup today.

Wynn said he was alone in his home and asleep after returning from a Florida vacation when he heard a voice asking "Where is your money?"

"I was sure that it was a gun pressing against my stomach," the husky doctor said. He estimated its position and "grabbed for both the gun and the man."

The two men lurched around the room in a deadly struggle. Then the gun went off, missing the doctor, and he relaxed his grip. The burglar straggled him and Wynn "went down dazed."

Wouldn't Believe Victim

"At this point my wrists were bound and ankles taped," he said. "I was blinded and the robber then turned the light on and asked 'Where's the money?' I told him it was in my clothing, but he apparently wasn't satisfied and asked 'Where's the rest of it?'"

"The robber then rolled me over on my face and told me 'I'm going to use these pliers on your fingers until you tell me where the rest of the money is. He tried to get a grip on my thumbnails but the pliers slipped off. Then he started working on the flesh of my fingers. It felt as if he was pinching the flesh off of my hands."

"I told him 'I make a living with these hands—if I had any money in the house I'd tell you where it was. But I don't have any.'"

The gunman finally gave up his torture and left. Wynn broke his bonds and, his hands streaming blood, staggered to a bathroom window and yelled for help.

Rejects Any Suggestion of 'Dumping' VP

President Makes Clear Nixon Can
Have Nomination

By MERRIMAN SMITH

United Press White House Writer WASHINGTON (U.P.) — President Eisenhower made it clear today that Vice President Richard M. Nixon can have the Republican vice presidential nomination again if he wants it.

Mr. Eisenhower angrily rejected any suggestion that he dump Nixon as his running mate.

He emphasized, however, that he has not presumed to tell Nixon on what he should do; that Nixon must chart his own political future.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference that he has no criticism of Nixon as a man, an associate or a running mate on the Republican ticket. But he said he has not presumed to tell Nixon what he should do about the campaign this year.

The President also said that if his general physical fitness to conduct the burdens of hard work in the presidency showed signs of definite deterioration, he would then step aside and put the matter before the American people.

He said he was not speaking of a brief illness such as a one week attack of influenza, but basic inability to perform his job as he sees it.

U. N. Action in Mid-East

Other highlights of Mr. Eisenhower's news conference: 1. He regarded as favorable the immediate reaction of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin to his March 1 proposal for an eventual ban on production of nuclear weapons. He said this country, in its relations with Russia, should be alert to follow up any opening that looks like it might lead to lessening of international tensions.

2. He said he believes the United Nations should take urgent and early action on the tense situation in the Middle East, with Israel and the Arab world agreeing to abide by U. N. armistice terms.

3. He disclosed that Bulganin at the Geneva "summit" meeting last July discussed one or two moves Russia was making in the Middle East. He added that Bulganin had described these moves as purely commercial.

4. As for the present day prospect of a Suez Canal crisis.

"Somebody Should Spread Crab Grass Over Russia"

The Daily Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND
by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Nixon Had Secret Meeting With Ike In Georgia; Senator Morse Barred As Louisiana State University Speaker; Senator Bridges Is Chief Hatched-Man Against Lobby Probe.

WASHINGTON. — It escaped newsmen who covered the President's golfing sojourn in Thomasville, Georgia, but Vice President Nixon paid Ike a secret visit there.

The visit is significant not because he was able to elude newsmen but because he discussed with Eisenhower the question of including his own name as his choice for vice president when he, Ike, made his historic announcement.

The President, however, explained that he had better stick to one subject at a time, and that the main subject was his own announcement.

He was friendly and sympathetic, but nevertheless negative.

This negation is given two different interpretations. By those friendly to Nixon it's pointed out that it's much better to postpone putting his name on he ticket until late in the campaign, thereby giving the Democrats less time to shoot at him.

By those opposing Nixon it's pointed out that Eisenhower, while friendly and fond of Dick, is cold-blooded about practical politics and wants to have the best possible vote-getter as his running mate.

He has already said that his health will be an issue; therefore he knows that the man who might have to succeed him will also be an issue.

CATTLE VS. ARTS

Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon shipped a trailer load of his prize English Red Devon cattle down to the Louisiana State cattle show at Baton Rouge the other day and prepared to follow them by plane later. Hearing about his proposed trip, Louisiana State University professors invited him to make an address as part of the student lecture series. Morse accepted, agreed to speak on March 4, be entertained at Pleasant Hall on the LSU campus.

But on March 2, Senator Morse made a speech in Washington opposing Senator Eastland of Mississippi as head of the Senate Judiciary committee on the ground that he had attacked the Supreme Court as treasonous after the court announced segregation.

Some hours later, Morse received a phone call from Professor J. W. Kistler, in charge of the LSU student lecture series, canceling the Morse speaking engagement for March 4 on "orders of the dean of liberal arts."

"We have also canceled your reservation at Pleasant Hall on the campus," Professor Kistler said, "and made a reservation at the Hotel Heidelberg instead."

Morse flew to Baton Rouge anyway, mingled with his cattle in the cattle pavilion on the LSU campus, did not mingle with LSU students or professors of liberal arts.

LOBBY MANEUVERING

Sen. Lyndon Johnson's deft maneuvering for a bipartisan committee has certainly managed to hamstring the investigation of big-time lobbying and big-time campaign contributions.

Here is what happened at the secret session of the Senate select committee in Vice President Nixon's office when it deadlocked over investigating the gas-oil lobby and campaign contributions.

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, who has been carrying the ball vigorously for the Republicans, did most of the talking. He was the backstage operator who moved, along with Johnson, to require 50-50 GOP membership on the committee. At the secret organization meeting Bridges laid down a flat decree that the Republicans wanted control of the staff and counsel in return for giving the Democrats the chairmanship. But he also stipulated that the chairman would not have the usual power to issue subpoenas and call meetings.

Bridges issued this ultimatum in such dictatorial, take-it-or-leave-it language that the Democrats said they were ready to walk out. Whereupon Bridges relaxed a bit. He showed his hand somewhat, indicated he was afraid of Tennessee's Sen. Albert Gore as chairman. Gore was head of the Elections committee which started to investigate but was circumvented by Johnson, Bridges and Knowland.

So Bridges proposed that Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas be the committee chairman. McClellan, an alleged Democrat, has voted more with Republicans on crucial issues than with Democrats, so Bridges knew that as chairman he would lean away from any penetrating probe of the oil-gas lobby.

McClellan quickly responded that he didn't "seek" the chairmanship. However, he didn't say he would reject it and obviously left the door open.

GRILLING SENATOR CASE

Bridges was then asked who would be picked as counsel, if the Republicans were given the right to select him.

"Charles Steadman," Bridges replied.

This is the personal friend of Bridges whom he appointed as counsel of the committee to investigate the $2,500 gift to Senator Case as if Case was guilty of fraud. He showed no intention of getting down to the real ramifications of the gas lobby and has only done so after evidence leaked out accidentally that Superior Oil money had gone into Nebraska, Iowa and other states.

Bridges' suggestion, therefore, brought no enthusiasm from the leading Democrats.

McClellan next proposed that the Republicans be given the vice chairmanship and one-half the staff. This was rejected by the Republicans.

At this point the deadlock was such that Vice President Nixon stepped in as peacemaker to suggest that the two sides cool off and that Bridges and Gore get together meanwhile to work on the rules. The meeting then broke up.

Note—The Democratic and Republican Senate leaders, Johnson and Knowland, both originally announced that the Senate Elections committee then headed by Hennings of Missouri had complete power to probe the entire question of lobbying. But when Hennings started to investigate, Johnson demanded that he resign because he was up for election himself. Later, when Gore succeeded him and indicated he was just as anxious as Hennings to investigate, both Johnson and Knowland, egged on privately by Bridges, moved to replace Gore with a diluted bipartisan committee. In order to take no chances of a penetrating probe, Bridges had himself appointed to this committee.

CHEST X-RAY AND LOCATIONS

Any adult 15 years of age and over, is invited to drop in for a free chest X-ray. Located at the Courthouse. Open from 10-1 and 2-5. Thursday, Friday and Saturday. March 8, 9, 10. Let's make it 100 per cent.

WHO NEEDS X-RAYS?

The goal of the county-wide chest X-ray program which opened here yesterday and will continue through Saturday is the X-raying of every resident 15 years of age or over, short and tall, thin and fat, puny and powerful—yes, even you who say "I never had a sick day in my life."

You may ask why X-ray the apparently healthy? Did you know that people can look and feel well and still have tuberculosis? Did you know that TB may have no outward symptoms in its early stage? By the time the symptoms which we all recognize appear—loss of weight, coughing, spitting blood—chances are the disease is in an advanced stage, difficult to cure. Did you know that any active case of TB can spread germs?

Whatever the outcome of a person's chest X-ray, he has nothing to lose and everything to gain. If his X-ray is clear, he will know his lungs are healthy. If tuberculosis is discovered, he knows he can take steps toward checking the disease before his illness becomes serious. X-ray program officials report that the majority of cases found during such a project are in an early stage. And the earlier tuberculosis is found, the easier it is to cure and the quicker the patient can return to a normal useful life.

The X-ray is free, and no disrobing is necessary. It only takes a few moments of time. Don't be one of the "apparently healthy." Make sure!

Psychiatrists Now Study Funnybone

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — The jokes you laugh at may be a key to your psychiatric personality, according to two Yale psychiatry professors, Frederick C. Redlich and Jacob Levine.

They have developed a "mirth" response test for probing the personality of individuals and bringing out emotional problems. The test is based on a set of 20 cartoons.

Reactions to the cartoons are rated on the "mirth spectrum," a scale ranging from a negative grimace to a belly-laugh. After noting the reaction, the examiner asks the subject to sort the cartoons into those he likes, dislikes and views with indifference. Then the subject is interviewed on his understanding of each cartoon and the association it evokes in his mind. These responses are studied in relation to what is known about the subject's background and personality.

So far, the test has shown that neurotic persons often read into a cartoon something quite different from what the humorist intended. Psychotic patients, the professors explained, tend to be either different to cartoons or disturbed by them. When they do find one funny, "they are likely to laugh uproariously at some totally irrelevant interpretation of their own," according to Levine.

The test also shows that mental patients and many relatively normal persons "resist laughter because it means a loss of self-control, which they fear," according to the two psychiatrists.

Pentagon Chiefs Consider Step-Up in B52 Production; Admit Lead by Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is considering a major step-up in B52 production to overcome Russia's admitted lead in heavy bomber output.

It was learned today that this government now accepts as fact that Russia is building more—perhaps twice as many—ultra-modern heavy jet bombers per month than the United States, which has always previously excelled in that field. While B52 production is rising, presently forecast monthly rates for this country and Russia indicate the U. S. Air Force has virtually no chance of catching up with Russia without a speed-up.

The U. S. production rate is scheduled to reach a peak of 17 B52s a month, about four times the current production. The Air Force is now considering the possibility of a step-up to 25 or more a month and a substantial increase in the total numbers to be produced.

Increase Considered

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson acknowledged at a news conference Tuesday that a production increase is getting "some consideration" in the Air Force. He also had had some hot retorts for Democratic criticism of the defense program who have centered their fire on what they consider a lag in guided missiles development.

On the eve of a Senate Armed Service subcommittee inquiry into the air-atomic and missiles situation, Wilson had this comment for Chairman Stuart Symington (D-Mo).—"I hope he finds he doesn't know as much as he thinks he does now." Symington declined to comment on Wilson's observation.

Wilson flew today to Ramey Air Force Base, Puerto Rico, to join a secret conference of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Wilson said the joint chiefs are working on a new, long-range military program to take into account guided missiles and other new weapons. The relative strength of the United States and Russia in missiles and bombers was certain to be high on the chiefs' agenda.

Southern Division, IEA, Spring Assembly At SIU March 12

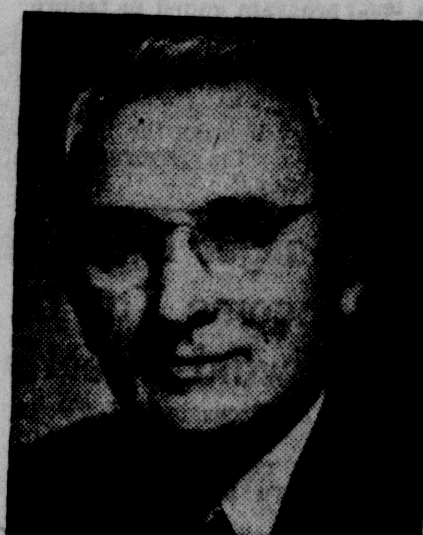

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Nearly 150 delegates will elect new officers for the Southern Division, Illinois Education association, at a spring assembly March 12 at Southern Illinois university.

The meeting, beginning at 7 p. m., will be held at University School auditorium.

Some 2700 teacher-members in the state's 14 southernmost counties will be represented by delegates to the assembly, according to President Robert E. McKinney, superintendent of schools at Marion.

Roy E. Bryant, director of SIU's Placement Service, will represent on a current campaign of selling life memberships to the National Education Association. Proceeds will help finance a new addition to the NEA headquarters building in Washington, D. C. More than 120 life memberships already have been sold in the Southern Division, Bryant said.

March 12 Final Day for Posters In Cancer Contest

March 12 is the last day high school students in Saline county may submit entries in the state-wide poster contest for the American Cancer society's 1956 Crusade, according to Mrs. John C. Humm, chairman of the Saline county chapter of the society.

The poster contest is being held to spark high school students' interest in the Illinois Cancer Control program. The posters will deal with the problems of cancer or present an educational message related to the disease—its cause, diagnosis, treatment or cure.

Posters may be of any size but should not exceed 22 x 30 inches. The Cancer Society symbol, a red sword pointed upward, should be incorporated into the design if possible. Six cash prizes totaling $525 are being contributed by the Illinois Woman's Golf association. The local chapter of the American Cancer society will award a $10 first prize, and $5 for second.

Posters must be turned over to Mrs. James W. Gaskins, educational chairman by Monday, March 12. Judges will be Mrs. Harold Bauman and George Carr of this city.

Winners of the poster contest will be announced March 15 and the three winning posters will be sent to Chicago to be judged for state awards.

Mrs. Nell Denny Hostess To Buena Vista Home Bureau
The Buena Vista Home Bureau unit held its March meeting at the home of Mrs. Nell Denny Friday, March 2.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Ruth Pryor. Roll call was answered with "my favorite school subject." The minor topic, "Cake Decorating," was demonstrated by Mrs. Barbara McConnell. The unit gained a new member, Mrs. Bea Stafford, making a total of six new members since the new year.

Handicraft will meet with Mrs. Stafford Wednesday, March 21, to learn the art of rug making and to make cancer bandages.

Mrs. Lula Hughes received the door prize. Other members present to enjoy refreshments in keeping with "St. Patrick's Day" were Mrs. Maxine Bell, Mrs. Mildred Smith, Mrs. Lea Travelstead, Mrs. Lois Buchanan and Mrs. Ruth Pickford. Visitors were Mrs. Orpha Wagner, Mrs. Tess Rogers, Misses Wanda and Janet Lea Bell, Susie Stafford and Cathy McConnell.

General Baptist Missionary Society to Make Loper Dresses and Roll Bandages

A special called meeting was held Sunday by the Missionary society of the General Baptist church to discuss making loper dresses and rolling bandages as the White Cross requisition for the month of March. It was decided that the regular meeting scheduled for the night of Wednesday, March 14, will be changed to a potluck at 12 noon. After the potluck members will present the loper dresses they have made and those present will help in rolling bandages. Anyone having old sheets or other white material with few seams is asked to bring or send them to the meeting. Those attending the potluck should bring at least one covered dish.

At this special meeting it was decided to elect officers for the coming year and a nomination committee composed of Geraldine Ewell and Dena Ellis was appointed to contact present officers and prospective officers and present a complete list of nominations to the meeting on March 14 at which time they will be acted on.

It was also announced that Dr. Chapman from the college will show slide films of his tour of the Holy Land at the New Hope General Baptist church at Ridgway on March 8, and a special invitation was extended to all who would like to attend.

The opening of mite boxes tentatively scheduled for our March 14 meeting has been postponed to the meeting in April which will be on April 11.

O. E. S. To Honor Grand Lecturer, Mrs. Mamie Bramlet
Mrs. Wendell (Mamie) Bramlet, will be the guest of honor Thursday night at a meeting by Harrisburg Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star. Mrs. Bramlet, who served as worthy matron of the Harrisburg chapter in 1954, is a Grand lecturer and in recognition of this honor, Eastern Stars who served as worthy matron in other southern Illinois chapters during that year have been especially invited.

Mrs. Nella Douglas, worthy matron, said that two Grand lecturers from Eldorado, Mrs. Vernell Davidson and Mrs. Clara Nagel, will be present also. Mrs. Ruth Harris, Carbondale, Grand representative of the states of Illinois and Massachusetts, and Mrs. R. C. Davenport, Harrisburg, past worthy Grand matron.

Refreshments will be served following the session.

Mickey Pankey Celebrates 9th Birthday With Party

Mickey Pankey, son of Mrs. Lucille Pankey, celebrated his ninth birthday Monday, March 5, at his home, 1229 Land street.

The children played several games and prizes were won by Darrel Duke, Jimmy Drew Mc Nab, Billy Stone, Jerry Pat Shelton, Alan Bennett and Connie Walker.

After the games Mickey enjoyed opening his many nice gifts. The children then gathered around a beautiful birthday cake and sang "Happy Birthday, Mickey." Ice cream, cake and Kool-Aid were served to those mentioned and to the following: Gail Glass, Philip Reynolds, Gary Sweat, Mike Hill, Peggy Travis, Betty Dalton, Charles Simpson, Stanley Hull, Tommy Alexander, Danny Dorris, Ruth Mullins, Janice Stiff, Cordelia York. Mrs. Pankey and Mickey's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Vaughn.

Mrs. Lula Randolph, who resided with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Fulkerson, at 209 East Sloan, fell Monday night down the back steps of the Fulkerson home and received a fractured hip. She was taken to the Lightner hospital.

Roy Staiger, who was taken to the Harrisburg hospital Monday afternoon for tests and X-rays, underwent an appendectomy today at 8 a. m.

Up to Nixon to Chart Course: Eisenhower

pects of peace or war, he said he believes the world has awakened to the fact that global war is getting well nigh unthinkable and that he believes the uneasy peace or cold war is going to take a different direction.

5. He agreed with Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson that there has been too much emphasis on this country's guided missile program as far as public discussion is concerned. But this, he added, does not minimize the dreadful importance of developing a weapon that could be hurled against an enemy. In this development, he said he feels that pinpoint accuracy is more important than distance.

6. He said he would have no objection to a constitutional amendment which states merely that a treaty may not violate the Constitution. But the President refused to say whether he believes the new version of the Bricker amendment would do this and no more.

At the outset of his news conference, Mr. Eisenhower reacted sharply when a reporter cited a published report that some of his advisers are urging him to "dump" Nixon and that the President has suggested to Nixon that he stand aside and perhaps take a Cabinet post.

With energetic seriousness, the President said that if anyone ever had the effrontery to suggest to him that he dump a person he respected as much as he did Nixon the resultant commotion would be widely heard.

Mr. Eisenhower said he has not presumed to tell the vice president what he should do in the forthcoming campaign. But he has told Nixon he should be one of the corner men of the Republican Party because Nixon is young, intelligent, talented in the affairs of government and deeply dedicated to the same principles for what Mr. Eisenhower stood.

The President then pointed out that he had asked Nixon to chart out his own course, then to tell him (Mr. Eisenhower) what Nixon wants to do.

The conference turned to the President's health with questioners pointing out that some Democrats are making it an issue.

The President started out by saying that he has tried to be as honest as he possibly could about his own condition.

To the Democratic charge that if renominated and re-elected, he would be a "part time president," Mr. Eisenhower shrugged his shoulders and said he is not going to defend himself against that one. No Neglect of Duties

But he warned to the subject, saying he carefully differentiated between the proper, necessary and constitutional duties of the presidency and many other less important aspects of the job.

In a firm voice he said there would be no neglect of his duties because of his health although he probably would not be the host that he had been in the past.

When he feels that he cannot carry on his proper, necessary and constitutional duties, he said, he will not be in the White House, nor will he be available.

Last week in announcing his decision to seek another term, he said he would not have made the decision unless he felt he could last out the next five years.

Today, he was asked what he would do if he found out before the Republican convention in August that his physical condition was below par.

Mr. Eisenhower said that unless he felt up to his duties he would no longer be in the White House and no longer be available. He said this was a promise.

Later in the conference a reporter wanted to know whether this meant he would withdraw from the GOP race if he found that his health was not up to meeting the burdens of the presidency.

The President seemed mildly irritated. He said he did not want to be held to a week's case of the flu. Instead, he said he was talking about his general organic fitness about that go through the year.

At any time, he feels that his general organic fitness does not permit this, he said, then it goes before the American people.

Magazine Says Ike Suggests Cabinet Post for Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Newsweek magazine said today President Eisenhower has suggested to Vice President Richard M. Nixon that he might want to take a Cabinet post instead of running again for the vice presidency.

The magazine said the President made the suggestion at a face-to-face meeting with Nixon at the White House last Tuesday, the day before Mr. Eisenhower announced he was available for re-election. The magazine said the President "didn't ask Nixon to withdraw—only to consider it—and the White House let it be known that Nixon could have the vice presidential nomination if he wanted it."

"The circumstances indicated, however," Newsweek said, "that the President, while reluctant to force Nixon's withdrawal, nevertheless wanted a free hand to choose his running mate—Nixon or somebody else—later on when the political situation clarified."

Dies in Fall From Telephone Pole

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP)—Leroy Bradford, 51, Edgewood, died Tuesday in a fall from a telephone pole in the Mason area where he was working with a crew of the Farina Telephone Co.

Authorities said marks on his body indicated he clung to the pole for some time before falling.

An autopsy was scheduled to determine what caused his death and the fall.

Carpentier, Castle Answer Attacks On State Administration 'Team'

By United Press
Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier and Atty. Gen. Latham Castle Tuesday night answered attacks on the state administration in speeches at a Peoria Republican rally.

Carpentier said incumbent Republican state officers, running as a regular organization "team," had cooperated in passing laws and administering the government. He cited such legislation as the new driver's license law and the collection of the 1952 truck license fee deficiencies through his and Castle's offices.

Both Carpentier and Castle praised the administration of Gov. William G. Stratton. Castle said "every Republican voter is a part of the governmental 'team' and can take pride in their state and national administrations."

State Treasurer Warren E. Wright, who is opposing Stratton for the Republican nomination for governor, in another campaign speech at Peoria, said Stratton would "lead the Republican Party to defeat in November over a highway littered with broken campaign pledges"—if he should happen to be nominated.

New Missile To Join Nike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new supersonic guided missile—the Talos—soon will join the Nike in guarding America's shores against air attack.

The Talos is reported to have a substantially greater range than the Army's Nike, a guided rocket that can strike invading bombers within a range of 30 miles.

The Defense Department announced Tuesday the Air Force will begin surveying prospective sites for the Talos "in the near future."

In Greek mythology, Talos was a man of brass given by the gods to the king of Crete to guard his island against attack.

The first sites to be surveyed will be Lockbourne Air Force Base just outside Columbus, Ohio, Bunker Hill Air Force Base, Indiana; the vicinity of Peoria, Ill., and Kirksville, Mo.

Wright charged Stratton failed to keep a campaign promise for "re-consideration" of the 1951 truck license law which boosted the licenses by more than 300 per cent in some cases.

Wright said he was backing a proposed bill which would reduce passenger car and light truck license fees, boost the fees on heavy trucks and charge out-of-state trucks a mileage tax. This bill is backed by Charles Mansfield, Springfield lobbyist for small haulers and farm truck groups.

The regular Democratic ticket, headed by Cook County Treasurer Herbert C. Paschen for governor, and State Rep. Richard Stengel for U. S. senator, made a series of campaign caravan stops and Stengel was scheduled to speak tonight at Lincoln.

Chicago City Treasurer Morris B. Sachs, opposing Paschen for the Democratic nomination for governor, toured Bureau and La Salle counties today.

Marine Battalion Ordered to Mediterranean

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department announced today that a battalion of Marines has been ordered to the Mediterranean.

They will sail from the United States in about a week and join the U. S. 6th Fleet.

The move came amid speculations that the fleet possibly might be deployed in a show of strength to deter any warlike moves between Israel and the Arab states.

A Marine battalion, with supporting units, normally numbers 1,500 men.

The Pentagon said the outfit, which was not designated, will replace a similar unit withdrawn last summer.

The move, the announcement said, is in line with a regular program of intermittently assigning battalion sized Marine units into the Mediterranean area for training and maneuvers.

Springfield Man Fined $1,000 for Reckless Homicide

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Seldon H. Cann, Springfield, Tuesday was fined $1,000 after conviction of reckless homicide in the death of a baby last Sept. 18.

A Circuit Court jury found Cann guilty after deliberating less than an hour. The 16-day-old boy was killed in an automobile accident involving his father, Marshall Garretson, Springfield, and a car driven by Cann.

Maximum penalty for a reckless homicide conviction is $1,000 fine and five years in prison, or both. Cann's attorney said he would ask for a new trial.

Approve Pay Raises For Peoria Teachers

PEORIA (AP)—Pay raises for teachers, ranging from $100 to $400 a year, were approved Tuesday by the Peoria Board of Education. The raises are to become effective next school year.

The board also approved raises for other school employees. Cost of the raises is expected to total about $291,000.

Induction of Podres Imminent

By United Press
The Brooklyn Dodgers viewed World Series hero, Johnny Podres' imminent induction into the Army today as too late to help the New York Yankees and too early to be of much comfort to their National league rivals.

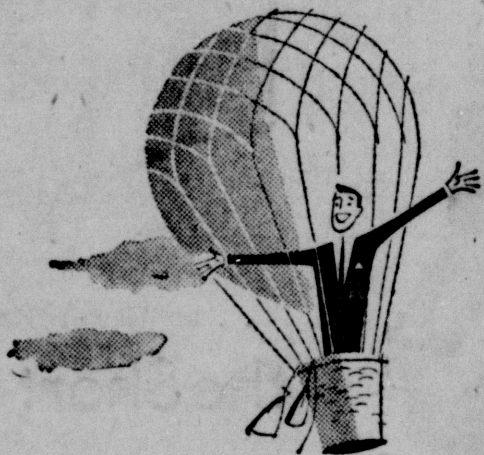

"Johnny's loss will put more of a burden on our pitching," Manager Walt Aiston conceded. "But if our young pitchers are as good as we think, we'll still have good pitching."

The three prime candidates to replace Podres as the world champions' No. 1 left-handed starter are 24-year old strikeout whiz Karl Spooner, who had an 8-6 record last season; 20-year old bonus kid Sandy Koufax, who was 2-2 in 12 games in 1955; and 27-year old Ken Lehman, who had a 22-9 record and 2.76 earned run average for Montreal in the International league.

The 23-year old Podres was told to report to Ft. Monmouth, N. Y., for induction March 15 but may ask that his papers be transferred to the Vero Beach, Fla., board which announced Tuesday that he then would be slated for induction in the April quota. Either way, Johnny will miss the next two seasons unless discharged for "hardship" or medical reasons.

San Francisco Ends Perfect Season; 25 Wins

By United Press
The national champion San Francisco Dons closed the deck for defense of their NCAA tournament championship today by closing the books on a record-busting perfect season of 25 victories and no defeats.

Win No. 25 for this year and No. 51 in the streak that has smashed the major-college record came easily by an 82-49 score over St. Mary's of California Tuesday night before a record crowd of 15,732 at San Francisco's Cow Palace. All-America Bill Russell paced the Dons' scoring with 22 points, helping them break the game open after being held to a 31-24 half-time margin.

The triumph marked the final collegiate appearance of K. C. Jones, who was named along with Russell today to the United Press All-America team. Jones, ineligible for the NCAA tournament, received a two-minute standing ovation from the crowd when he left the game with six minutes to play.

Next stop for the Dons is a March 16 date with UCLA, the Pacific Coast conference champion, in the first round of the NCAA regional tournament at Corvallis, Ore. If the Dons win four straight games in the tourney to retain the NCAA crown, they also will equal a streak of 55 victories posted by Peru, Neb. Teachers 30 years ago, recognized by the NCAA as the all-time, all-college record.

Assign Officials To Super-Sectional Basketball Games

CHICAGO — The Illinois High School Assn. today announced the assignments of officials for the eight "super-sectional" games of the state basketball tournament March 13.

The assignments:

At Decatur, Harold L. Inman, Champaign; and Wayne E. Nohren, Longview; at Northwestern University, Paul Sokody Jr., Elgin, and Robert A. Young, Maywood; at Hinsdale, Frank J. Falzone, Rockford, and James A. Pateron, Crete; at Moline, Alvin D. Gebhard, East Peoria, and Rodman H. Thompson, Peoria.

At Bradley University, Max Miller, Macomb, and Dan Robbins, Macomb; at Salem, James E. McCoskey, Murphysboro, and Claude W. Rhodes, Benton; at Springfield, William B. Cox, Charleston, and Dwight B. Wilkey, Monticello; at West Frankfort, Robert D. Blonidi, Benton, and Joe Przada, East St. Louis.

Boy, Corrected For Not Singing, Stabs Teacher

MACOMB, Ill. — An 11-year-old boy was being held today for stabbing his teacher with his Boy Scout knife because she corrected him for not singing in class.

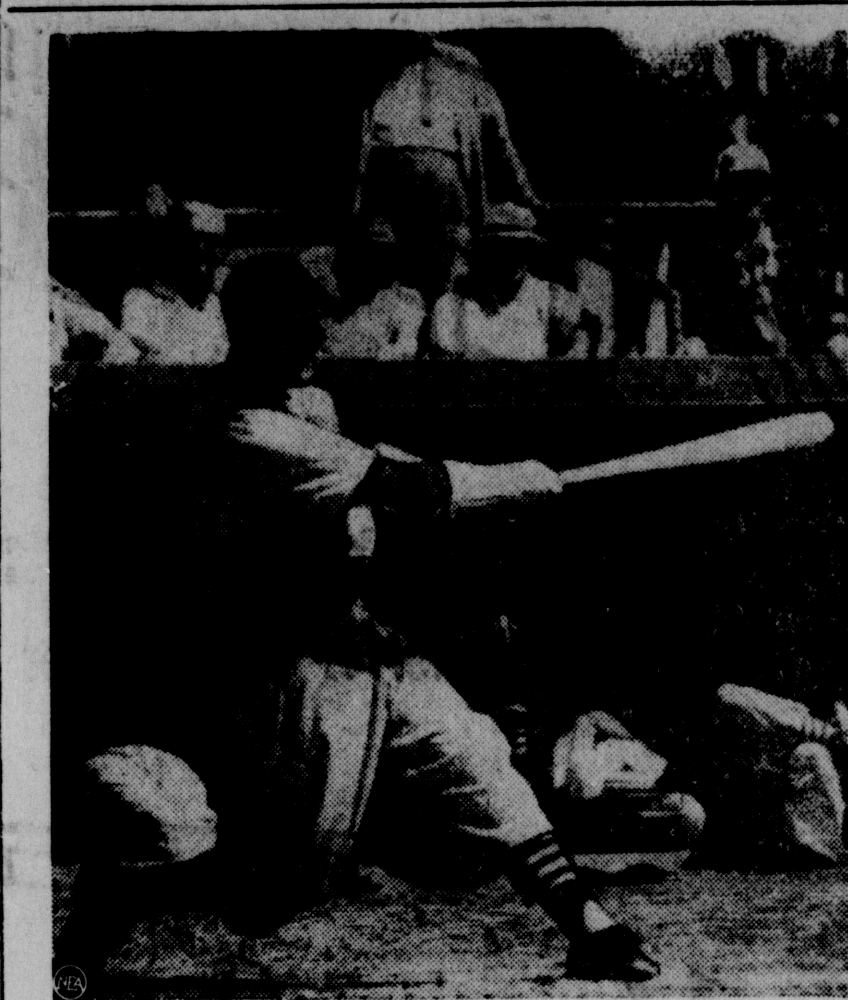

The boy, Harry Eugene Hall, stabbed Mrs. Elsie Hempleman in the right shoulder Tuesday. Mrs. Hempleman was reported recovering from the wound, which required several stitches.

The McDonough county sheriff's office said the boy turned himself in at the county jail after the stabbing. A deputy said a complaint charging assault with a deadly weapon had been signed against the boy.

The deputy said the teacher had reprimanded the boy at his seat for not singing. As she turned to leave, the deputy said, the boy rose from his seat and stabbed her.

In a statement, the boy said he stabbed Mrs. Hempleman "without thinking." The sheriff's office said he had never been in trouble before.

The stabbing occurred at the Grant school.

Shawneetown-Carmi Clash Tonight Rated One of Four Spotlight Contests in Sectional Tourneys

Shawneetown vs. Carmi in the Harrisburg sectional meet at 8:00 tonight is listed as one of the four spotlight contests in sectional play in Illinois this evening by the United Press associations.

The UP lists the other first night attractions as Edwardsville vs. Litchfield, Belleville vs. Pinckneyville and Little York vs. Galesburg. "Carmi's Bulldogs," the United Press declares, "is a husky, hard rebounding crew with a 22-6 record which may have the horses to halt the winning streak of unbeaten Shawneetown."

"But the Indians," the UP continues, "who last year also went unbeaten into the Sweet 16, must be rated favorites. They are led by high-scoring Jack Nolen, 6-4 center, and Alfred Gunzel, a 6-2 rebounding wizard. Little Bob Stewart is supposed to have replaced Garrison Newsom as an out-shooting artist and Jack Drone and Hobart Ellis are fast floor men."

Pincks a Veteran Club

Regarding the Pinckneyville-Belleville game the United Press says:

"If Belleville wins the Pinckneyville sectional it can just about claim the state championship without playing any further. All the Maroons have to do is beat the Panthers, second-ranked team in the state, on their home floor tonight. Then they will probably face Perrin, ranked third, in the sectional final Friday."

"The Pinck Panthers have a veteran club that has more height than any recent 'Duster' Thomas five. Alex Singer is a six foot, five inch junior center who was a sophomore flash at the Sweet 16 last year, and the other four starters are all 6-3."

Here is the United Press report on the rest of the sectionals:

The Edwardsville-Litchfield battle at Wood River will be the second meeting in two weeks for the Southwestern and Mid-State conference champs. Edwardsville won the regular season windup for both clubs 77-69.

Tiger Combination

To win, Litchfield will have to stop the high-scoring Tiger combination of forward Manny Jackson and center Governor Vaughn. In the previous encounter between the clubs Jackson got 36 points. Litchfield has a well-balanced attack, with center Dan Flynn handling chores under the boards, guard Mike Golasich the drive-ins, and guard Jarrell Jarrard trying the set shots.

Little York is another Cinderella favorite this year, but the district champs, with a 27-1 record, have only an outside chance

Reds Seeking Deal for Pitcher

TAMPA, Fla. — The Cincinnati Reds, desperate for an established starting pitcher, have offered one National League club six players and $125,000 in cash for the hurler they believe can fill the bill.

In a second trade on the fire, they proposed giving up seven players to the Pittsburgh Pirates for Bob Friend, whose earned run average of 2.84 led the league last season.

General Manager Gabe Paul and Field Manager Birdie Tebbets disclosed they were going all out in their efforts to land a proven pitcher because they believe the Reds can win the pennant if they do.

Paul refused to reveal to which club he made the offer of six players and $125,000, but it was believed to be either the St. Louis Cardinals or the Chicago Cubs. If it's the Cardinals, the report is that southpaw Harvey Haddix is the pitcher the Reds want. If it's the Cubs, the man they want is either Warren Hacker or Bob Rush.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Had a bout with a virus the latter part of last week and the virus won. Knocked me for a loop, in fact. Pretty near flat of my back from Friday noon to Tuesday noon. Came back to work this morning.

The above is offered in a way of explanation for the lateness in announcing the results of the "you pick 'em" in the regional tournaments.

Had three-way tie for the championship, with the top marks being five correct and five misses in the ten tournaments listed.

The co-winners: Eugene Edwards, Box 151, Shawneetown; Ben F. Davis, Box 37, Atlanta, Ill.; David Nelson, 201 East Dayton, Harrisburg.

All three picked Shawneetown, Herrin, Lawrenceville and Edwardsville for four correct selections. Edwards' fifth right pick was Belleville in the Duplo affair. Nelson and Davis gave the nod to Metropolis in its own meet for their fifth pick.

This ends our game of "you pick 'em" until football season next fall. Many thanks to all of you that participated in the game. I hope you enjoyed playing it as much as I did.

Leotio Cabutti, head coach at Herrin high school, has been invited to speak at the annual Illinois Spring Football Coaching Clinic at the University of Illinois April 20 and 21.

Cabutti and Emery Ebbert of Elgin will be the speakers from the prep schools. Speakers from the college ranks will be Leonard Watters, head coach at Williams college, and Paul F. Dietzel, head coach at Louisiana State university.

Bob King of the U. of I., program chairman, has announced that members of the Illinois spring football squad will participate in the program in demonstrations with all speakers. The clinic will be highlighted by a full-length game between picked squads on Saturday, April 21.

Griffith Stadium in Washington will have some shortened fences this year that will decrease the home run distance by something like 30 feet in left and center fields. In mentioning that, The Sporting News recalls a story about Joe DiMaggio a few years ago when Washington had some temporary bleachers in left field on opening day. DiMaggio went hitless. But the next day the bleachers were gone and Joe hit three balls 400 feet into the corner where the bleachers had been. GI Cop caught them for easy outs. "I was swinging late," DiMaggio said. "Twenty-four hours late."

Dunbar, Hyde Park To Clash for Right to Enter State Finals

CHICAGO — Dunbar and Hyde Park will clash Friday for the right to represent Chicago in the Illinois prep basketball finals.

Dunbar whipped Taft, 84-65, and Hyde Park downed Crane Tech, 72-65, in semifinal games Tuesday.

Winner of the Friday city title game will advance to the "super-sectional" at Evanston Tuesday, against the winner of this week's sectional tournament at Arlington Heights.

Dons' Bill Russell, Si Green of Duquesne Named All-Americans Second Time

NEW YORK — Bill Russell, talented six-foot-10 center for top-ranked San Francisco, and versatile Si Green of Duquesne were chosen today on the United Press All-America basketball team for the second year in a row.

The three other players selected for the team by the votes of 353 sports writers and broadcasters throughout the nation were Robin Freeman of Ohio State, Darrell Floyd of Furman and K. C. Jones, Russell's backcourt teammate on San Francisco.

Russell, who was largely instrumental in making the Dons the nation's No. 1 team for the second straight year, received the largest voting percentage ever polled by a player in the eight years the United Press has chosen an All-America team.

The gangling, relaxed Oakland, Calif., youth attracted 308 first team votes and 29 for the second team, being thus mentioned by 95.5 per cent of the 353 participants in the balloting. This barely topped the previous high of 95.4 by Tom Gola of LaSalle last season.

Freeman, second leading scorer in the major college ranks with a 32.9-point average, was the second most popular choice on the team. His name appeared on the ballots of 83.5 per cent of the voters. Green was mentioned on 65.7 per cent; Floyd, the nation's highest scorer with a 33.8-point average, was picked by 55.9 per cent of the voters, and Jones by 47 per cent.

Close For Fifth

Jones won the fifth position on the mythical team by a bare margin over Ron Shavlik of North Carolina State. Rod Hundley of West Virginia and Tom Heinsohn of Holy Cross were next in popularity in that order, with Bill Uhl of Dayton and Len Rosenbluth of North Carolina completed the second team.

Ford Stock is Admitted to N. Y. Exchange

NEW YORK (AP) — Ford Motor Co. stock was admitted to trading on the New York Stock Exchange today with one of the most colorful floor ceremonies in the 164-year history of the exchange.

The stock opened on a 1,300 share block at $62 a share, up 12½ cents from the previous closing bid price on the over-the-counter market. But the price was $2.50 a share lower than the original offering price of $64.50 when 10,200,000 shares were sold to the public for the first time last Jan. 18.

At the ceremonies Benson Ford, youthful vice president of the motor company revealed that Ford now has more than 350,000

Salem Proposal To Repair Power Plant Defeated

SALEM, Ill. (AP) — A proposal to raise more than one million dollars to repair Salem's municipal electric power plant has been defeated.

Salem residents voted almost 3-1 Tuesday against a proposed bond issue to raise $1,170,000 to repair the municipal plant. Results of the voting were 674 "yes" and 2,012 "no."

The voter turnout was heavier than the balloting in Salem's election of mayor and City Council last year.

The bond issue would have been retired over a 28-year period at a possible 4 per cent interest rate. The money obtained would have gone for repairs and expansion to the Salem power plant which is badly in need of overhauling.

What the Salem city government will do next is uncertain. The council met Tuesday night after results of the election were announced but it took no action on the matter.

Opponents of the bond issue had said three alternatives were possible:

The city could repair the plant; it could try to obtain wholesale power and distribute it over the city system; or it could sell the plant and distributing system to Illinois Power Co.

The IPC has refused to sell electricity at wholesale rates to Salem. The Illinois Commerce Commission ruled against Salem's petition for an order forcing IPC to sell power to Salem.

The city has appealed the ICC ruling and action is pending on the appeal.

The IPC made a tentative offer of one million dollars to purchase the Salem power plant and distributing system. Another special election would be required to decide whether the plant should be sold.

Jordan Wavers Between Arab States, West

JERUSALEM (AP) — The tiny Arab kingdom of Jordan wavered today between two rival Middle East alliances competing for its allegiance as heightened Arab-Israel border tension kept the Middle East on the edge of war.

King Hussein of Jordan told the United Press in an interview his friendship toward Britain remained true despite the dismissal of British Lt. Gen. John Glubb Pasha as head of the Arab legion. And his chief adviser said the neighboring Arab states did not influence the decision.

But in Cairo the heads of state of Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria continued their own "summit" conference called at first to plot war strategy but amended to seek ways and means of winning Jordan away from all British influence.

Britain still hoped to bring Jordan into the Baghdad Pact with the help of American influence but the three Arab nations meeting in Cairo were prepared to more than match the 20 to 25 million dollars Britain has poured into Jordan annually for many years.

The tension was reflected in the Western capitals. In London Prime Minister Anthony Eden was going before the House of Commons to explain Britain's position in light of the Glubb dismissal. In Washington Congress was concerned at reports France was sending jet planes to Israel.

Steel Workers Favor Supplemental Jobless Benefits, Premium Pay

CHICAGO (U)—A sampling of the opinions of the 1,200,000 membership of the United Steel Workers today heavily favored supplemental unemployment benefits and premium weekend pay.

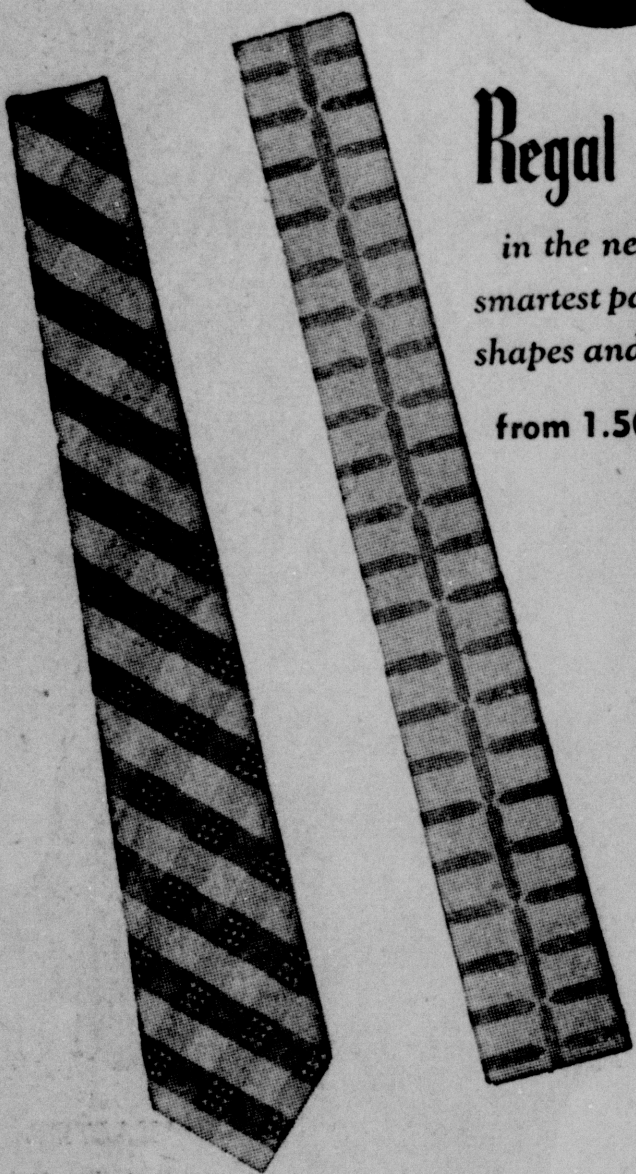

The results were revealed at the USW's two-day "Operation Sound-off," called to determine the sentiments of the rank-and-file members for the information of its Wage Policy Committee.

David J. McDonald, USW president, said the meeting was not a policy-setting conference but is intended as a guide. He indicated that the union would press strongly for the two demands in contract negotiations, however.

Just a Corpse at Twilight

By Robert Martin

XXIV
I left my car, walked the short block to the square and entered the Winchester Inn. Mrs. Dorn smiled pleasantly from behind the desk. "Good morning, Mr. Bennett."

"Good morning," I showed her my teeth, which are still good, except for a few fillings in some bicusps. "Do you have anyone registered from Port Wayne?"

"Yes, we do—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Woodruff. She's Alice Osborn's sister." She sighed and adjusted her nose glasses. "They came for the funeral."

"I wonder if I could see Mrs. Woodruff?"

"They're in 210. Shall I call for you?"

"If you will." She turned, plugged in a cord, spoke briefly and turned back to me. "You can go right up."

I thanked her, went out into the hall and up the carpeted stairs. I knocked on the door of 210 and it was opened immediately by a tall thin woman wearing a pink quilted robe and pink tufted slippers. She had a thin handsome face and her eyes were dark and intense. Metal curlers, clamped around tufts of brownish hair, studded her head. She appeared older than Alice Osborn, and I thought sadly that there was little resemblance between the sisters. "Mrs. Woodruff?" I asked, removing my hat.

She nodded. "You're Mr. Bennett?"

"Yes. May I offer my deepest sympathy?" It was trite, but I am never very clear on such occasions. "I'm very sorry about your sister."

Her thin lips quivered a little, but her stony expression never changed. "Thank you. Please come in." She stepped aside.

I moved into a bright, sun-streaked room. The big double bed was neatly made. The top of a high old-fashioned dresser bore cosmetics and toilet articles, the jars and tubes arranged in a neat row. A heavy, partially bald man clad only in pajama trousers appeared in the bathroom door. There was a razor on his face and he held a safety razor.

"Dear," the woman said to him, "this is Mr. Bennett, from the Welfare Commission."

"Howdy." He nodded at me. I nodded back and he disappeared into the bathroom.

"I'm sorry to intrude at a time like this," I said, annoyed at the unctuous tones of my voice. "But my time is limited. I'll be as brief as possible."

"If it's about the autopsy on poor Frank," she said crisply, "the answer is No."

I looked at her. "Mrs. Woodruff, please let me explain." "It has all been explained to me by Mr.—Mr.—I can't recall his name. He's the sheriff here."

"Mr. Cornwallis?"

"Yes. He talked to me yesterday, right after we arrived. He said that you wanted to exhume poor Frank's body and do an unnecessary post mortem examination. It will serve no good purpose that I can see, and I am certain that my sister would not have wanted it."

"But she did," I said. "She signed a release before she—before the accident."

"Mr. Cornwallis explained that, too," she said in the same crisp voice, "but he also explained that as next of kin, and as the executrix of my sister's estate, I have the right to prohibit the autopsy."

"She left a will?"

"Yes. Mr. Cornwallis found it among her effects at the house. I have read it and it's legal. For your information, she left everything to me, the house, land, bank account—everything."

"I am glad for you," I said.

"Yes, but I can't see that it concerns you. I knew of course that my brother-in-law was disabled with—silicosis—but I also knew that his death was caused by a heart attack. The attending physician has assured me of that."

"Dr. Jarrett?"

"Yes. He and Mr. Cornwallis came to see me together."

"I see," I said. "And did Dr. Jarrett oppose the autopsy?"

"Frankly, yes. He said it was unnecessary, a needless sacrifice. I am a religious woman, Mr. Bennett, and I have respect for the dead."

"There will be no disrespect."

"No," she said coldly. "Mr. Tweed has also advised me not to consent. He pointed out that due to public opinion and the possible adverse effect locally on his—his profession, he has refused you the use of his facilities for the autopsy. Mr. Tweed feels as I do, that it is needless and—loathsome, and I respect his position."

I said carefully, "The law provides that the $10,000 indemnity for death due to industrial causes be paid to the spouse or direct dependents. Even though you are next of kin, I assume that you are not a dependent, and would therefore not be eligible for the death payment—if we find that Mr. Osborn's death was actually due to silicosis. The money would be held in escrow for five years in the event that a claimant appeared in the future. I am merely trying to protect the state and the interests of any possible claimants. It is my duty to tell you this."

"I understand that. Mr. Tweed explained it. I would gain nothing, regardless of the result of the autopsy."

"That's right," I said gently. "But we would know for certain what caused Mr. Osborn's death. Mrs. Woodruff, I wonder if your attitude would be different—if there was a chance that you would receive the payment?"

Her thin nostrils dilated. "Mr. Bennett, you are being offensive. I must ask you to leave."

No Cold War by U. S., Russia in Antarctic: Byrd

MIAMI (U)—Adm. Richard E. Byrd, returning from Antarctica Tuesday night, reported there is no "cold war" between Americans conducting Operation Deep Freeze and Russian explorers.

Byrd said, however, that he plans to talk over the "delicate matter of claims" with the U. S. State Department. Byrd arrived by plane from Panama and plans to leave for Washington Friday.

Byrd said on arriving in the United States after 10 weeks as head of the U. S. expedition in Little America that relations with Russian explorers in the Antarctic have been friendly and cooperative.

The two nations are setting up scientific bases in south polar regions as part of the 40-nation observance of the geophysical year. The operations will extend through 1959.

Byrd said he will return to Little America to resume his direction of Operation Deep Freeze.

CARBONDALE, ILL.—Henry H. Smith, known as an outstanding teacher of photography at Indiana University, will discuss ways of "reading" photographs at the fifth annual Southern Illinois University-Kappa Alpha Mu photo fair March 11, according to Donald Bell, White Hall. Bell is a student president of SIU's KAM chapter. The organization is an honorary photography journalism fraternity.

The program will begin at 1:30 in the new SIU library auditorium. Registration for visitors will be at 1 p. m. in the library foyer when the photo fair exhibit opens.

Smith, assistant professor of fine arts, joined the Indiana university faculty in 1947 to set up a program of undergraduate and graduate courses in creative photography. He has prepared articles for photography and design magazines and for various midwestern newspapers. He studied in Chicago art and design schools and is a graduate of Ohio State University.

Before going to Indiana he worked as a journalist for newspapers and magazines, served as associate editor for Minicam Photography magazine (now Modern Photography), and was in the U. S. air force during World War II. His abstract photographs have been exhibited in Wisconsin, Delaware, and the Museum of Modern Art in New York city. The work of his students has appeared in some of the nation's leading magazines.

In addition to being the featured speaker for the photo fair program, Smith will judge the fair's photographic entries.

Benson Predicts Senate Will Knock Out High Supports

CHICAGO (U)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson predicted Tuesday night that the administration farm bill, freed of Democratic price support amendments, will squeak through the Senate Thursday.

Benson expressed confidence that the Senate will vote to knock out the controversial amendments restoring 90 per cent of parity supports on corn, cotton, peanuts, and millable wheat.

The administration bill, featuring a soil bank program and flexible price supports, will then be passed by a "narrow margin," he predicted.

Warn Worst of Tornado Season Is Yet to Come

CHICAGO (U)—The Weather Bureau warned today that the worst of the Illinois tornado season is yet to come.

Two tornadoes already have struck the state this year. One took six lives in St. Clair county Feb. 25, and another injured at least four persons near Buckley Tuesday night.

"Since the main portion of the tornado season is still ahead of us, there seems little doubt that more will occur during the coming months," the Weather Bureau said in a special release.

Forecasters reported that the Feb. 25 tornado was the first February twister in Illinois in at least 40 years. February usually is the month with the fewest tornadoes, the bureau said.

The report said the only previous "tornado of consequence" in February was one which killed 16 at Mount Vernon Feb. 19, 1888.

May brings the "peak" of tornado activity, the Weather Bureau said, while the period from March through June usually is considered the Illinois tornado season.

The report said the tornado last Feb. 25 killed more persons than all Illinois twisters in the years 1951-55. Four were killed in those five years.

Cats have been known to live as long as 30 years.

Former Vienna Resident Dies

E. C. House, 70, former resident of Vienna, died Sunday night at his home in Glenview, Ind.

State Payroll in November Higher

SPRINGFIELD (U)—State Auditor Orville E. Hodge reported today state payroll totals for November, 1955, were $14,407,494.27 and an average of 49,055.5 persons, working.

The figures were higher than for October, 1955, and November, 1954. The November, 1955, payroll was 720.5 persons and $57,153 higher than for October.

It was 3,153.5 persons and $380,956 higher than November, 1954, and 4,291.3 persons and $1,772,237 higher than for November, 1953.

Hodge and Gov. William G. Stratton have blamed the higher payroll on increased services authorized by the Legislature, heavier responsibilities and workloads for state offices and a shorter work week for employes in state institutions.

Annual Meeting Held by Farm Credit Co-Op

Web Hall, secretary-treasurer of the National Farm Loan association, reports a meeting of the Stockholders was held at Wesley Center in the Methodist church at Harrisburg on Feb. 23. The meeting was attended by a large number of people from the 10 southern counties in Illinois which are served by this association.

In his report Mr. Hall stated that the increase in membership and new business in the association during the past year was due to the fine cooperation he has received from the other co-ops in this territory and from the members of the association.

E. B. Harris, secretary of the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis, was the principal speaker. Mr. Harris, who has been with the Land Bank for the past 39 years, said that although farm commodity prices are burdensomely low now he feels that the long term outlook for agriculture is good. He says that the Land Bank has a good record for helping to keep the cost of credit low for farmers and is still making farm loans with a 4 per cent interest rate that is guaranteed for 20 to 34 1-2 years. Entertainment was furnished by 4-H Club members from Pulaski, Pope, Johnson, and Saline counties.

The following directors for the association were elected in this meeting: Milo Thurston, Pulaski; Herman Heaton, New Burnside; Oscar Stinson, Eldorado; Clarence Bayley, Ridgeway; and James Booz, Glendale.

Unusual Warning on U. S. Highway 54

TEXHOMA, Okla. — Drivers unfamiliar with U. S. Highway 54 in this section of the Oklahoma Panhandle usually blink when they see this road sign: "Warning—Air Currents."

They also tighten their grip on the wheel, which probably is what the Oklahoma highway patrol had in mind when it installed the warning.

The sign is along a strip of the highway where unusually strong wind currents make driving dangerous. When the wind is from the north or southwest, there is a dangerous eddy where five tall grain elevators border the highway.

"It will whip a car toward the elevators," said Texas County undersheriff Bill John Pugh. The elevators stand in a cluster about 150 feet from the road on the north side. The tallest is 131 feet, and three more are almost that high.

Pugh said no accidents have occurred since the signs that greet northbound and southbound motorists were installed.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Naugle of Raleigh To Observe Golden Wedding Anniversary

(J. R. Metcalf Studio Photo)
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Naugle

A Raleigh township couple born on farms near each other and who have lived on the same site since their marriage except for a couple of years when they moved into Raleigh, are preparing to celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Naugle, who live on a farm in Section 20 of Raleigh township. They will be married 50 years Thursday but will hold open house Sunday because their children will be able to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Naugle invite all their friends to attend the open house. Their son, Gerald Naugle, and family of Alton, and their daughter, Angie, wife of George Lasseter, and family of Tuscola will be here for the occasion. The Naugles have five grandchildren.

Modern Farm Practices
Mrs. Naugle was Miss Cora Steinsultz, who resided with her parents, Lewis and Margaret Steinsultz, on a farm a mile east of where the Naugles lived. Mr. and Mrs. Naugle were married at the Steinsultz home by Ed Burkhardt, Raleigh justice of the peace, on March 8, 1906.

Young Mr. Naugle was the son of John S. and Angeline Naugle. His father had served on the Saline County Board of Supervisors around the turn of the century.

Following their marriage they moved onto the Naugle farm where they have resided except for the two years in Raleigh. They built their present home in 1915. In Raleigh he was in the hardware business about three years with his brother, Simon Naugle, but Mr. Naugle has been a farmer all his life. He was a pioneer of modern farm practices and was one of the first farmers in the county to grow tall fescue. He was one of the first to practice contour farming, and has built terraces and grass waterways on his farm.

Members of Raleigh Baptist
Although soybeans did not really get started until around the thirties in Saline county, Mr. Naugle started planting them around 1918 or 1919. His father had got some sample soybean seed from his congressman and had placed them in a desk. Following his father's death Mr. Naugle planted the small number and got a bushel of seed for his efforts. He continued planting the soybeans, making hay out of the crop. Since those first plantings he has changed kinds of beans a number of times.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Naugle have been members of Raleigh Baptist church and were regular attendants for years. They also have displayed great interest in Farm Bureau activities throughout the years.

Mr. Naugle has been retired from active farming the past year.

Senate Passes Bill To Exempt Gasoline On Farms from Tax

WASHINGTON — The Senate passed unanimously today a bill that would exempt gasoline used on farms from the federal tax of 2 cents a gallon.

The Senate Finance Committee had amended the House measure to make contract operators of heavy farm machinery, such as harvesting combines, continue to pay the tax. The committee did so on the ground that "there is no assurance" that the tax relief would be passed along to farmers. The bill was returned to the House for action on the amendment.

American Premiere of Laurence Olivier In Richard III by NBC Over WSIL Sunday

Harrisburg's WSIL-TV this Sunday will present the American premiere of Laurence Olivier's William Shakespeare play, "Richard III," in an unprecedented three-hour telecast over the network of the National Broadcasting Company.

This will be a live telecast of Olivier's film version of the famous Shakespeare play, which stars Olivier as Richard III.

The program will be presented from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. over Channel 22. This is the longest motion picture ever presented on television, and the first time a film of such universally-acclaimed stature has had its nationwide premiere on TV.

"Richard III" is currently playing to capacity houses in London and has recently won three of the British Film Academy's 1955 awards.

The story centers in the character of Richard, Duke of Gloucester (Olivier), who becomes King Richard III by killing those standing between himself and the throne.

As the play opens, Richard already has murdered King Henry

VI and his son, the Prince of Wales, and is plotting the deaths of his two brothers, Edward (Sir Cecil Hardwicke), who is the king, and the Duke of Clarence (John Gielgud), who precedes him in rank. He succeeds in killing Clarence, and Edward dies of illness.

Richard callously marries the widow of the Prince of Wales, Lady Anne (Claire Bloom), to strengthen his claim to the crown. With the aid of the Duke of Buckingham he murders the Lord Chamberlain and two other noblemen who object to his accession.

He is proclaimed Richard III, but the seeds of his defeat have been sown by his treachery. The Earl of Richmond, a descendant of King Henry VI, claims the crown and leads an army to battle Richard at Bosworth Field. Most of Richard's supporters desert him, and he is killed.

Nurses to Attend 16-County Regional Institute at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Nurses in the state's 16 southernmost counties will attend a regional institute conducted by the Illinois Heart Association March 22 at Southern Illinois university, according to Miss Virginia Harrison, chairman of SIU's nursing department.

Area physicians and social workers also are invited to the all-day meeting which will open at 9 a. m. at the University School Studio Theater, following a coffee hour and registration period.

Main speaker will be Dr. William F. Dye, assistant professor of surgery at the University of Illinois, whose topic will be "Cardiac Surgery."

Miss Frances Cowan, chairman of the Loyola University nursing department, will speak on "Nursing Care of the Cardiac." Other speakers will include Dr. Martin Powell and Dr. Charles Young, Carbondale physicians.

Mrs. Mary L. Perkins, Carbondale, president of the 14th district, Illinois State Nurses' association, will preside.

A luncheon scheduled for 12:15 p. m. at the Carbondale Presbyterian church will feature a talk by Mrs. Marguerite L. Ingram, Springfield, executive director of the Illinois Heart Association. She will be introduced by Miss Theresa Kern, Carbondale, nursing consultant for the Southern Region, State Department of Public Health.

The afternoon program will include two films and a discussion session.

Let Rabbit Do Dodging—Better Equipped for It

BALLSTON SPA, N. Y. — Richard Thompson has decided he's had enough of rabbits for awhile. Thompson, 24, was driving along a highway near here when a rabbit darted into the path of his car. He swerved to avoid the rabbit, knocked down five guard posts and ended up in a ditch, slightly injured. The rabbit escaped unhurt.

GIANT CITY STATE PARK

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS OFFERS the spring traveler a varied assortment of interesting vistas and experiences, including peach orchards in bloom, red bud and dogwood, fine fishing, Ozark mountain scenery, fine roads, historical sites, fine State Parks, comfortable lodging and excellent food. (Department of Conservation photo and map.)

men who either have stored their tackle through the winter months, or have shivered and risked pneumonia over tiny holes in the ice as they angled for an occasional winter string.

The Illinois Department of Conservation offers the early traveler a wide variety of history and recreation in the "Egyptian" section of the state. Central point in the Department's facilities in southern Illinois is Giant City State Park, located two miles east of U. S. 51 at Makanda, midway between Carbondale and Anna-Jonesboro.

The State Park offers visitors a magnificent view of the Ozarks in Illinois, a rustic lodge and modern dining room, overnight cabins which can be rented by the week if desired, and some of the most remarkable rock formations in central North America. Nature has carved out canyon-like streets in the rocky hills of the region, giving the area its name of Giant City.

Nearby for the angler and boat-lover is Little Grassy lake which abounds in largemouth bass and crappie fishing. Only a few miles to the north, and directly east of Carbondale, lies sprawling Crab Orchard lake with its 14,000 acre federal game preserve.

South and west of Giant City, over fine modern roads, are the hillside peach orchards, viewed best from Alto Pass road between U. S. 51 and Illinois Route 127. Alto Pass, a road leads to Bald Knob, second highest point in Illinois and the site for the huge cross to be erected through the help of the Federation of Woman's Clubs. Easter Sunrise Services will be held on Bald Knob on Sunday, April 1, following a custom of many years.

Spread across southern Illinois is 210,000-acre Shawnee National Forest and such other scenic and historical spots as Fort Massac State Park, Cave-in-Rock State Park, Horseshoe Lake, Mermet and Union County waterfowl refuges, Union State Forest and Nursery, Ferne Clyffe State Park, Dixon Springs State Park, Kaskaskia memorial and fort, and Fort Chartres, all within easy driving distance of Giant City. Carbondale offers Southern Illinois University, one of the fastest growing educational institutions in the midwest, and near Murphysboro is Lake Murphysboro State Park, another excellent fishing spot.

Reservations are necessary for visitors who plan to stay at Giant City State Park and may be obtained by writing to Mrs. Mary Vaughn, care of the park, Makanda, Illinois. There are many modern motels and hotels all around the region, as well as excellent restaurants.

Area Springs--Famous and Infamous

By L. A. Dearinger
FAMOUS "SPRINGS"
Although somewhat on the smallish side, springs of water in Little Egypt were plentiful and adequate and, as might be expected, several springs became quite famous—in one case, infamous.

Several mineral springs in Little Egypt were developed as health resorts—Okawville, Sailor Springs, Dixon Springs, Creal Springs—and it must have been soon after the War between the States that at some sulphur springs about ten miles northeast of Anna one resort was started that was planned to rival the famous Saratoga Springs in New York state. Money was raised in Pennsylvania, a townsite laid out, a hotel built and a name selected—Western Saratoga. A "hack" met the trains at Anna. At one time there were several stores, a barber, a blacksmith and a park. However, Western Saratoga lacked one important feature that its namesake provided—excitement. All that is left at Saratoga is one store, a few houses and a bright red pump at the springs. It is said that older ladies in Anna must have their "Toby" water. And so do we when we are in that area. Saratoga is in a lovely setting, and the water is cool and refreshing, if you can stand the smell.

Valuable Asset

The salt springs in Little Egypt were, of course, a valuable regional asset, and perhaps the best known of the salines is Nigger Spring, near the Saline River, just off Route 1, below Equality. Evidence of a prehistoric culture has been found at this site. On the ridge above the spring is an old Indian burial ground. With his coming the white man took over. Around 1688 Frenchmen from Detroit came to the site after salt, built a blockhouse and gave it a name that still stands—Equality. The U. S. government farmed out the salt rights. One operator built a mansion on a bluff a mile north of the salt spring, which he called "Hickory Hill," but which is better known as the "Old Slave House." Just southwest of Equality is "Half Moon Lick," another salt spring once important.

Hardin county's rival for Yellowstone's Old Faithful was Ebb and Flow Spring, which is located near the lower road between Cave-in-Rock and E-town. This spring would flow for forty minutes and then would rest the same length of time. Ebb and Flow Spring still flows, but something happened to its "innards" and it no longer performs with its old clocklike regularity.

About three miles west of Dongola is Roaring Spring, our nomination for the shortest stream in the world, and, for its size, the noisiest. After prolonged rains this spring can be heard for a quarter of a mile. Although it was July, and during a dry spell, hearing its roar helped us to find the place. Roaring Spring is located in a small sinkhole, high on a hillside. A fairly large stream swells from beneath a massive rock, to rush, twist and roar its way across the sinkhole to disappear into a crevasse, its entire length being not over forty feet.

Infamous Spring
Lively Springs, in Washington county, was named for a family that settled there in 1812, or early in 1813. In July 1813 a band of Indians on a horse-stealing expedition attacked this frontier home and killed six members of the Lively family—there was but one survivor, a young son, who was out hunting cattle when the attack was made. The six Lively graves are still to be seen near the spring, and Washington County citizens have placed a commemorative marker at the site. To visit Lively Springs, go west from Hoytson on Route 177, and inquire at Covington.

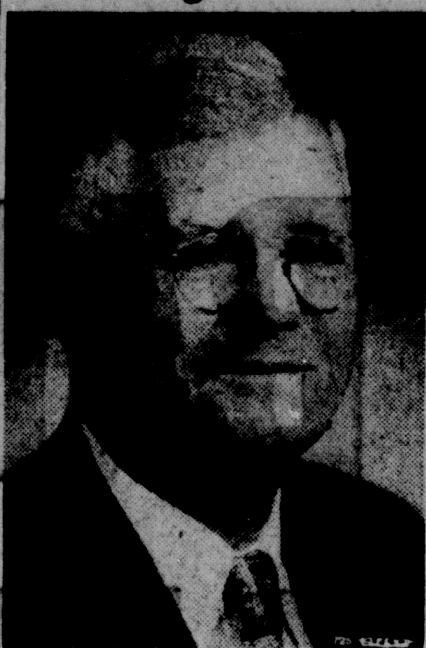

The infamous Potts Spring is located just west of Route 1, at the foot of the hill below the Karbers Ridge Road. It was at this spring that Billy Potts maintained the tavern that marked the Illinois end of Ford's Road (a road maintained by Ford and Potts in conjunction with a ferry across the Ohio River). Many immigrants travelled Ford's Road, and crossed the Ohio on Ford's Ferry. It has been claimed that not a few "bit the dust of Ford's Road"—that is, were robbed and killed. And, according to legend, many travellers escaped the dangers along Ford's Road, only to "bite the dust" at Potts Tavern. At any rate, Potts' son was surprised in the act of robbing two settlers. The word was spread, and young Potts found it expedient to disappear.

Few Rocks Mark Site
Several years after, grown heavier and wearing a beard, young Potts returned. His first stop was in Kentucky, at Ford's Tavern. Not being recognized he decided to have some fun and displayed a fat purse. It was with difficulty that he escaped being robbed and murdered before he could convince his former pals who he really was. The next day he rode on alone to Potts Tavern, and when he was not recognized by his parents, he repeated the stunt of showing a well-filled purse.

On the second day the friends rode over from Ford's Tavern to celebrate the return of young Potts. They were met by Billy Potts who reported a rich haul he had made the night before. Young Potts had been killed and robbed when he had knelt at the spring for a drink. The body had been buried in a shallow grave, and it was necessary to uncover the body and establish identification by means of a birthmark before Billy Potts would believe that he had murdered his own son.

Only a few rocks now mark the site of the old tavern. Water from Potts Spring is piped into a modern farm home. The setting is one of peace.

W. O. Verhines, Vienna, In Race For Congress

W. O. Verhines

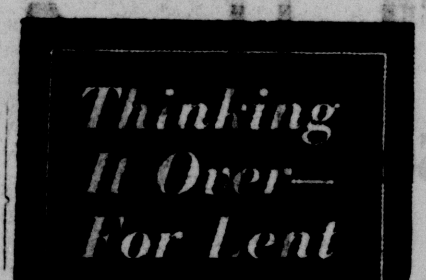

W. O. Verhines, Vienna, at present serving his eighth year in the General Assembly as Representative from this district is announcing his candidacy for Congress from this district on the Republican ticket.

Rep. Verhines is known throughout southern Illinois and the entire state for his activities in advocating and sponsoring "Farm to Market" road programs, redistribution of gasoline tax funds where by each township or road district would receive its proportionate share of the motor fuel tax funds. Under this formula, the county receives from $50,000 to $100,000 for township and road district funds.

Verhines has served on several important committees during his tenure in the General Assembly. Some of these committees were: Revenue, Road and Bridges, Banks, Building & Loan Associations, Education and he served as vice-chairman on Personnel and Pensions. Serving on these committees and on the floor of the House, Rep. Verhines in co-operation with his colleagues of both political parties has been able to steer through the House a number of bills which have been of much benefit to down-state. Various groups of business, professional and men in the field of education recognize and appreciate his work in the General Assembly.

Rep. Verhines is a veteran of World War I, member of the American Legion, Past Commander of the Vienna American Legion Post, belongs to the operative plasterer's and cement masonry A. F. L. Local 125, Harrisburg, member of the Farm Bureau, former owner and operator of the Vienna Hatchery, which he operated for 15 years.

Rep. Verhines plans to see as many of the voters of the 25th Congressional District as possible in the short time he has before the April 10 Primary election. In the meantime he will appreciate all favors shown him by the voters of this District.

By Robert Dieffenbacher, D. D.
Written for NEA Service
We are half way through Lent. We are rapidly approaching Holy Week when we think about the trial of Jesus.

The crowds had shouted their praise of His healing, His teaching of justice, His stories of love and compassion and His example of friendship and courage. Yet the public acclaim of Jesus did not move anyone to witness for Him at the civil trial.

He was treated like a criminal. He was convicted on circumstantial evidence of being a political impostor. He was betrayed for a bribe. He was sentenced with the extreme human penalty of slow death on a cross.

All of this happened many years ago. What would happen if He were on trial today? Would we act like the crowds, the disciples and the legalists of long ago? Would we be indifferent toward His plight? Would we hesitate to testify? Would we accept a bribe to put Him on trial? Would we convict Him on circumstantial evidence? We cannot pass off these questions with a shrug of the shoulders. The very thought gives a great deal of cause for self-re-view.

Hauptmann Lists Real Estate Deals

W. E. Jackson, a school teacher at Decatur, has bought the property on South Land street owned by Miss Marie Fralley, who recently moved to 420 South Granger street. Mr. Jackson plans to build an addition and then occupy the place as a residence, according to C. A. E. Hauptmann, real estate broker, who made the deal.

Mr. Hauptmann also reports three other property sales: Alex Balabas of Christopher, has sold his former home at 440 West Church street, to Mr. and Mrs. Dan Davis. Mr. Davis is employed by the Southeastern Illinois Gas Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Leston McNichols have sold their home at 703 West Poplar street, to Mr. and Mrs. Ted Price. The Albert Hicks farm below Rudement was sold by Mr. Hicks, who is working in the north part of the state, to W. L. Tusher.

Objects Found in Indian Site in Southern Illinois Described by Curator

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Several skeletons and a large number of Indian objects were uncovered in 1955 by the Illinois State Museum at an ancient Indian campsite in southern Illinois.

Museum curator of anthropology Melvin L. Fowler described the find in his "Summary of the 1955 Archaeological Field Party at Modoc Rockshelter." Modoc Rockshelter is located beside a protecting bluff in Randolph county near Prairie du Rocher.

The summary stated that the rockshelter, excavated to a depth of 19 feet last summer, revealed an abundance of Late Archaic Indian artifacts. These included projectile points, hide scrapers, knives, drills and unfinished bannerstones. The ancient skeletons were found buried in flexed or bent positions, most of them in poor condition.

Fowler said the campsite has been proven to be more than 10,000 years old. Carbon samples taken from the remains of a campfire there indicate it was kindled about 8,000 B. C. The campsite is believed to be the oldest one of continuous occupation found east of the Rocky mountains.

Large quantities of animal skeletons were also found, the summary stated, and are being studied by Dr. Paul W. Parmelee, museum curator of zoology. It is expected that analyses will show different species of animals predominating in Illinois during various time periods.

The Museum and the University of Arizona are conducting tests on pollen samples found in the lower depths of the site to determine what kinds of plant life existed thousands of years ago. Fowler predicted that results of these tests will indicate Illinois had a hot and dry climate about 5,000 years ago.

Facts obtained through excavation about the Indians, animals, plants and climate of Illinois aid considerably in reconstructing the history of the state, Fowler said.

The Museum plans another archaeological expedition to the rockshelter this summer to lower the site to a depth of 26 feet.

Asks $100,000 For Fall in Hotel

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — A St. Louis man today asked $100,000 damages for an alleged fall in a Decatur hotel shower when the water suddenly turned "scalding hot."

Nat Malt, who claimed he lost the sight of his right eye and received head, chest, body and arm injuries as a result of the fall, filed the $100,000 damage suit in Federal District Court here.

The suit named Jack H. Powers, Helen K. Powers and Virginia Powers Reising, as operators of the Orlando Hotel, as defendants.

Malt charged he was taking a shower in the hotel March 8, 1954, with the water "at a desired temperature," when it became "scalding hot" and caused him to fall.

Saline County Allotted $6,496 Motor Fuel Tax Funds for February

Saline county has been allotted $6,496 as its share of motor fuel taxes paid into the state treasury during February, Morton H. Hollingsworth, state finance director at Springfield, announced today. Other allotments to counties included: Alexander, $3,515; Franklin, $7,708; Hamilton, $2,359; Hardin, $1,165; Jackson, $8,012; Johnson, $1,025; Massac, $4,165; Perry, $4,964; Union, $4,572; White, $6,752; and Williamson, $9,011.
